Prelude in D Flat Major
'Raindrop'
1839

Can you hear the repeated note in the lower part of the piano?

Ask yourself how does the music make you feel and why?

What is the tempo (speed) of the music? Does it stay the same?

Is the texture thick or thin?

Does the music stay the same all the way through or does it change? What is its structure?

Do the dynamics (loud and quiet) stay the same?

If you were writing a story about this music, what would you say?

What colours come into your head when you listen to the music?
